Conservatives Tally Big Sweep In Canada

Close to 80% of Commons Seats Won by Tories

Speedy Joblessness Session Is Promised By Prime Minister

TORONTO (AP) — Canada was amazed today by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's political triumph, which shattered the opposition in Parliament and placed his Conservative party in complete command with the biggest majority in history.

Monday's general election—the country's second in 10 months—gave the Conservatives 209 of the 65 seats in the House of Commons.

The election made history in these other ways:

It seduced the once powerful Liberal party to 47 seats, the smallest number ever. It had 106 before the election.

It sent the leader of the Social-ist Cooperative Commonwealth Federation, M. J. Coldwell, to defeat and reduced the CCF House membership from 26 to 8.

One district was still out. Eliminated From Commons

The election completely eliminated the Social Credit party from Commons, including its leader, Solon Low. Social Credit had 19 members before.

The 62-year-old Prime Minister will be in a powerful position to rule as his party will for the next five years.

The largest number of members any party ever had before was the 190 seats the Liberals won in 1949. Since his surprise victory last June, Diefenbaker had been governing with only 113, 20 less than a majority.

The Prime Minister swung into action immediately. He announced he was calling Parliament back into session at the earliest moment to tackle the unemployment problem, which he described as the No. 1 issue before the country.

Offers Recovery Program

Unemployment was one of the big campaign issues. Diefenbaker proposed a billion-dollar development program to take up some of the slack. He opposed Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson's plan for tax cuts of approximately 400 million dollars.

Lisbon Man Among Cancer Victims Greeted By Nixon

Charles J. Neal of Lisbon, "cancer ambassador" was urged yesterday by Vice President Nixon to continue the battle against cancer on the home front.

Mr. Neal was among the group of four cured cancer patients who met and were photographed with Vice President Nixon in the Senate reception room in Washington, D.C.

Nixon, after leaving the Senate Chamber, was asked to pose and talk with representatives of American Cancer Society's first Cured Cancer Congress. The Vice President cheerfully met the representatives and wished them success in their undertaking.

The Cured Cancer Congress, scheduled to open today at Cleveland, marks the start of American Cancer Society's April Cancer Crusade. Earlier today the representatives from 48 states and Alaska all of whom have been cured of cancer, assembled at the Lincoln Memorial, Washington.

Tomorrow morning Mr. Neal is scheduled to be received by Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower at the White House. In the afternoon the delegates will be received by Senator Lester Hill in the Senate Chamber.

UAW Opens Contract Talks With Chrysler

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther take his profit-sharing demand to Chrysler Corp. today, putting 1958 labor contract talks in full swing at the Big Three car makers.

The United Auto Workers chief opened negotiations Monday at Ford Motor Co. He presented his demands to General Motors Corp. a week ago today.

The negotiators have 60 days to reach settlements before current contracts run out about June 1. By agreement, the talks at each company will proceed under a news blackout that can be canceled on 24 hours notice. The GM talks are in recess until April 8.

Reuther turned the bargaining at Ford today over to Ken Bannan, director of the UAW's Ford Department. Bannan said, "We're in the process of presenting our program." He indicated that would take several days before the talks were recessed to permit the company to study the demands.

Reuther formally opened the Ford talks by shaking hands with

Broader Basis for Tax Urged Here by Becker

Ferd Becker of Columbus, county affairs chief of the State Board of Tax Appeals, told some 60 county commissioners, auditors and treasurers from 13 Ohio counties here Monday that there should be more of a uniform basis for assessing property for taxes.

Becker spoke at the quarterly meeting of the Northeastern Ohio County Commissioners Association, which was held at Timberlakes.

Becker, who discussed new methods for governing the appraisal of real estate for taxes, said that the appraisal of property is only an estimate as determined by the appraisers themselves.

A competent value of real estate can be determined only by a competent appraiser, Becker declared.

Columbiana County commissioners are considering a reappraisal of all real estate in the county. Becker said that commissioners should not pin their hopes on obtaining tax funds from one source. He said that the base of taxes should be broadened so that more people can be taxed.

Should Go After Delinquents
He said that new methods should be devised for obtaining delinquent taxes which too often are merely written off the books.

Becker said that more people should become interested in government taxes so that discrepancies can be more easily ironed out.

Becker said that the duty of the county commissioners is to appropriate money and that sound

Red Claims of A-Bomb Making Ban Expected

U.S. Officials Think Report Delayed For Propaganda Reasons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top officials predicted today that the Soviet Union would follow up its lone wolf ban on atomic-hydrogen tests by proclaiming an end to production of nuclear weapons.

Moscow probably already has made the decision, they said, in line with a public hint to that effect which Soviet Premier Khrushchev put out in Moscow nearly three weeks ago. But they said the Kremlin probably is deliberately delaying an announcement until Moscow has reaped propaganda value from the single-handed test ban.

No Date Set For Start of Ban

The Soviet Union, which has just completed an extensive series of nuclear tests, announced no date for the start of its ban on further tests. It also left the way open to resume the tests after the first of a series the United States has planned this spring and summer in the Pacific testing grounds.

U.S. officials said this country's tests will go forward as scheduled.

Responsible officials said a network of Allied detection stations on the rim of the Soviet Union could provide a reasonable check on whether the Soviets are cheating on a test ban.

But they said a halt in atomic production could not be verified from the outside. Reliable, unbiased inspectors would be needed inside Soviet arms plants.

AEC Against U.S. Ban

The Soviet announcement coincided with some reports that the Atomic Energy Commission was opposed to any U.S. action to halt tests voluntarily even after the current testing series ends this summer.

The AEC view was reported to be that further tests are urgently needed to learn more about peace-time prospects and to develop further "baby" atomic bombs.

Meanwhile, government authorities insisted that the Eisenhower administration has not backed down in its demand that a summit conference must be preceded by lower level diplomatic talks which ease differences on existing problems.

They contended it was incorrect to draw this interpretation from the American-British-French note, to the Kremlin which calls for talks on an ambassadors' level in the second half of this month.

These diplomats, it was said, would "examine the position" of East-West governments on major issues and would seek "by general discussion" to bring prospect of agreement.

Wisdom of Cross Is Stressed By Holy Week Speaker

"The Wisdom of the Cross" was the theme of Dr. Everett L. Catell at the opening Holy Week services Monday in the First Presbyterian Church. A fairly good crowd was in attendance.

Dr. Catell explained that the cross expressed God's heart and love for mankind. Though there are many things in life which we cannot understand and explain, one whose heart would give his only Son to die for us can be trusted in every way.

The cross has been transfigured into different shapes by our thinking, such as golden crosses, ornamental crosses, and crosses in jewelry, so that the ruggedness and the original concept has often been defaced from our thinking, the speaker said.

From the human standpoint, the cross may seem like a tragic mistake, but when analyzed from the power of Christ's death to forgive our sins, we see the wisdom of the cross, Dr. Catell said.

In the Bible the cross is associated with the death of Christ and symbolizes our personal death to sin, he concluded.

The noon service will continue daily, sponsored by the Ministerial Association.

Corn Prop Cut Only Four Cents

U.S. Farm Leaders Expected Bigger Dip

WASHINGTON (AP) — To the surprise of many, Secretary of Agriculture Benson reduced the price support for corn this year only four cents a bushel.

The 1958 rate was set at $1.36 a bushel, compared with $1.40 last year. Because of a big increase in supplies of this and other livestock feed grains, some farm leaders had expected Benson to lower the rate 8 to 10 cents a bushel.

The new rate is designed to reflect 77 per cent of the parity price of corn under the flexible support law authorizing a range between 75 and 90 per cent of parity. Under this law, supports may be reduced as supplies increase.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices charged to them.

Last year's rate reflected the same percentage of parity, but the 1958 parity is lower than that for 1957 because of a further shift this year toward a new and modernized parity standard. That reduction brought a lower dollars-and-cents support rate.

The $1.36 rate will be increased Oct. 1, Benson said, if the parity price is higher than at present or if the supplies do not turn out to be as large in relation to requirements as they do now.

This rate will apply to farmers in a designated commercial corn area comprising 926 major producing counties in 26 Midwestern, Eastern and Southeastern states who plant within their allotments. No support was announced for the rest of the country.

Ike to Send Congress Defense Shake-Up Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is proposing to strengthen the authority of the secretary of defense and of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

This is a key feature of the defense reorganization plan Eisenhower will send to Congress before the Easter recess Thursday.

Secretary of Defense McElroy presented a draft last week to the National Security Council.

Although the plan fell short of the full military unification demanded by some critics of the present system, it had already met anticipatory resistance from some powerful congressmen.

Bills opposing further power concentration have been filed by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services Committee; Rep. Areeda (R-Ill), House minority whip; Sen. Mansfield

West Reacting Cautiously to Red A-Test Ban

Britain Rules Out Any Ideal of Cancellation Of Scheduled Tests

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union today appeared to have scored a considerable initial propaganda victory in Europe and Asia with its announcement it is suspending test explosions of nuclear weapons.

West European officials generally did not go along, at least publicly, with the U.S. State Department claim that the suspension was meaningless because there was no provision for international inspection. Comment was cautious.

But Britain ruled out any idea that it would call off the tests it plans to start soon, and several leading papers urged the Western Allies to treat the Soviet move with caution.

The Communist press hailed the announcement to the Supreme Soviet. The East German radio said the "Western powers will have to join the Russian move."

London's Conservative Daily Mail said it was crystal clear that "Soviet Russia has scored another brilliant propaganda victory." But the paper counseled the Western powers not to be panicked into stopping the testing and development of missiles.

The Times of London warned that the ban "will be taken by many peoples—far too simply, but very genuinely—as a step toward averting nuclear disaster if only the Western powers follow suit."

London's Liberal News Chronicle also said the impact of the Soviet announcement on uncommitted nations would be tremendous. It joined the pro-Labor Daily Mirror in calling for a similar British suspension.

In West Germany, the influential independent Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung called the Soviet announcement an announcement of "far-reaching psychological value" which had "put America and Britain in an awkward position."

Woman, Man Hurt In Traffic Crash

A 63-year old Salem woman is in good condition today in the Central Clinic following a three-car collision which occurred on S. Broadway near Franklin Ave. this morning at 7:55.

Injured was Mrs. Queena Howell, 971 E. 3rd St. who was riding in a car driven by her stepfather, Percy Callahan, of 971 E. 3rd St.

Mrs. Howell was admitted with a broken left wrist while Mr. Callahan was treated for broken ribs.

Callahan told police that the brakes on his car failed which prevented him from stopping in time to avoid striking the rear of a car driven by Mrs. Helen V. Pim, 37, of 167 Fair Ave.

When Callahan's car struck Mrs. Pim's auto, the collision forced it into a parked car owned by Charles E. Sarchet of 322 Jennings Ave., police said.

Mrs. Pim's car had been stopped to allow her husband Norman to get out while on his way to work at the E. W. Bliss Co.

Crafts Prowl Depths of Oceans

Modern Nuclear Subs Gaining in Importance

(Editor's Note — The hydrogen bomb and the ballistic missile have given the ocean depths a new strategic importance — as prowling grounds for nuclear subs in the armory of the deterrent. This article on the ocean frontier discusses its military implications.)

By EVERET S. ALLEN
New Bedford Standard-Times
(Written for The Associated Press)

If there's a hiding place anywhere in the nuclear and rocket age, it's in the ocean depths.

Because of this fact, the importance of the submarine in naval planning has risen as steeply as that of the battleship, one-time ruler of the seas, has declined.

In a military deterrent system, staying hidden is a paramount factor.

The National Academy of Sciences sponsored an intensive summer study group at Falmouth, Mass., in 1956. The specific subject matter of the discussion remains top secret, but it had to do with the sea and national security, and the scientific approach to this general field.

The military aspects of the ocean were thought to present a situation sufficiently serious so that 60 to 80 very important people gave up their summer to think about it.

What did they talk about?

Here are some good bets:

Just Around Corner

The true submarine presumably is just around the corner. To date, the sub has been merely a surface ship that could submerge, but as it advances in technique, it will go deeper — as much as 2 1/2 miles — and stay down longer. Even now, some nuclear-powered subs stay under water for two weeks.

U. S. subs, therefore, must learn to navigate for great stretches without surfacing; their navigators must have knowledge of all dimensions of the ocean, including the underwater reaches.

Submerged, the submarine uses its electronic and mechanical "ears" to check the targets course and speed. Data obtained by such listening governs the torpedo settings.

This dependence on acoustics also offers a remarkable defensive possibility.

This is to fill stretches of the ocean with sound waves — just as broadcasts can be jammed now — and so plug the hostile sub's electronic ears.

By using varying frequencies the deafening of friendly subs could be avoided — or the device could be employed in sea areas known to be free of friendly craft.

A sub so attacked by sound would have to surface to find its targets. Once it does that, it has sacrificed its principal advantage — concealment.

Development of such measures are for the future. Meantime, it will take some 10 years of hard work before the United States can be sure it has gained clear and overwhelming technical superiority over Russia's existing fleet of some 460 submarines.

But to help in that crucial struggle for undersea superiority, some top scientists say, the United States should be making four times the effort it is now making in marine science — presently the concern of only a few hundred persons in America.

This small contingent is led by such dedicated scientists as Dr. Maurice Ewing, director of Columbia University's Lamont Geological Observatory and Dr. C. O'D. Iselin, director of Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution.

The federal government last year spent on oceanography the equivalent of the cost of four miles of highway — and there's every reason to think that this effort is being dwarfed by the Soviet Union.

Cincinnati Youth May Pay With Life For Wild Spree

CINCINNATI (AP)—A 15-year-old youth may have to pay with his life for trying to shake off police after driving through a red light on an unauthorized jaunt in his father's car.

Abe Savage, shot in the head, was in critical condition Monday night at General Hospital.

Officers said Larry Parks, 14, tearfully told them he had pleaded with Savage to stop during a wild, weaving, shot - punctuated chase through city streets.

Investigators said the Savage car bulled through three road blocks and was finally wrecked at an intersection.

Patrolman Raymond Turner

said he pulled alongside the fleeing auto and ordered the boy to gunpoint to halt, but the youth put on a burst of speed. Turner said he fired twice at the car.

Turner had started the chase, after seeing the car run through a traffic signal.

Officers quoted the Parks boy as saying that Savage, when he ran through the red light, said, "Let's go through this and see what happens."

Seek to Raise 30 Million Dollars

Messages of Hope Dramatize Opening of Cancer Fund Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's first Cured Cancer Congress dramatized with messages of hope today the opening of a 1958 crusade to raise 30 million dollars to combat the disease.

The director of the government's National Cancer Institute, Dr. John R. Heller, said that 700,000 Americans now are being treated for cancer — but 800,000 have had it and been saved.

Heller reported that "we are on the threshold of breakthroughs" in understanding the nature of the disease and finding powerful new drugs to control it.

Of the 800,000 who have been cured, 40 met under sponsorship of the American Cancer Society. They were 9 to 76 years old, from 29 states and the District of Columbia, representing varied occupations and many types of cancer and its treatment.

The program included a reception at the White House by Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, honorary chairman of the 1958 cancer crusade and the lighting of a 30-foot Sword of Hope in a park on Pennsylvania Avenue.

Dr. Lowell T. Coggeshall of Chicago, president of the cancer society, told the Cured Cancer Congress: "Today there is hope." Those who have been cured, he said, can combat "the deep and paralyzing fear" of cancer.

He said that 20 years have shown great progress in cutting down the death rate. In 1938, he said, one in every seven cancer victims was saved; now it is one in three. He said the death rate for women has dropped largely because of cures of cancer of the uterus but the rate has gone up for men, mainly because of the 300 per cent increase in deaths from lung cancer.

There was no ignoring of the darker side. Dr. Heller said that whereas 150,000 Americans will be saved from cancer within the next 12 months, about 250,000 will die of it. Yet, he said, there have been "great gains against cancer."

For the first time, he said, a drug, methotrexate, has successfully suppressed a solid tumor. "This," he said, "indeed is a milestone on the long road to conquering cancer."

Thinking It Over—For Lent

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

"For I was hungry and ye gave me meat. I was thirsty and ye gave me drink, I was a stranger and ye took me in." Jesus used this text for one of His Holy Week discourses.

"When did I these things?" asked the righteous.

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto Me," said the Lord.

To many this message is fantastic. It goes far beyond the giving of charity. It is unnecessary in this world of plenty. Some go so far as to say, "Let every man find his own way."

Are we going to reach the end of Lent without learning the message of service and of love for our fellowmen? Everyone needs a helping hand at some time. We do not have to search far to find someone to help in some vital way.

Warning: Children At Play

Spring not only is a time when the first flowers begin to bloom, it is a season when children turn sidewalks into playgrounds.

Motorists should caution themselves at this time of the year and increase their alertness for any emergency where a child might suddenly dash into the street. Most children, after a winter indoors, become gay and carefree and smaller children, especially, will chase a ball into the street or make a sudden dash to join another playmate on the other side without any thought of safety.

That is why the burden of responsibility rests with the motorists.

The absence of ice and snow on streets is no reason for drivers to increase their speed but, unfortunately, many do. Common sense driving guided most motorists through the winter months. Common sense, plus an ever-alertness for children at play, will give Salem a traffic toll free summer.

Salem's most precious "flowers" are her children. Drive carefully and protect them.

Rule 29 Better Than Canon 35

The Ohio Supreme Court's Rule 29, which says that photographing, broadcasting or televising any session of any court in the state is prohibited and any violation shall be considered contempt of court, is an improvement over American Bar Assn.'s Canon 35, which had no official status.

It has been the use of a private organization's code of ethics to regulate a public agency that has offended newspapers and radio and television stations in Ohio. Their point has been that the courts do not belong to members of the American Bar Assn., or to the legal profession but to the citizens who support them.

When the Ohio Supreme Court, itself, a properly constituted agency of government, answerable to voters, takes a flat position against photographers and electronic technicians in courtrooms, that puts the issue in a different light. Individual judges no longer can make up their individual minds about the status of these new techniques of communication. They have been outlawed officially by the highest judicial authority; there is no room henceforth for individual discretion.

The Supreme Court, itself, now bears responsibility for both credit and censure in this matter. On the whole, its Rule 29 deserves credit. There is no compelling reason why court sessions should be photographed, broadcast, or televised. But these things could not be prohibited by a legal ethic, subject to varying interpretations by individual judges. If the public's right to know about one of its own agencies was going to be limited, it had to be limited everywhere in the same way on the basis of an official rule.

Tax Cut Now, Tax Boost Later?

There is an astonishing amount of political support for a tax cut, which is certainly the most revolutionary idea for stimulating purchasing and production heard in the 20th century.

Previously, tax cuts were out of the question when business slowed down. They were saved for the occasions when government was operating in the black — when business was booming.

They represented money that could safely be left in taxpayers' possession because the

Help Combat Cancer

One hundred eighty-five persons in Columbiana County died of cancer last year.

There are 122 active cases of cancer in the county now.

Those are 307 good reasons why you should support the cancer fund drive which began today.

Encouraging progress has been made in recent years in methods of treating various forms of cancer, and the day may not be too distant when preventive inoculations or infallible cures may relegate the dreaded disease to the status now occupied by small pox.

In the meantime, money is needed to finance research and to provide medical attention for persons already afflicted.

Sixty percent of the funds contributed in the county remain here for treatment of patients and advancement of the important educational program; the remainder is sent to the national headquarters.

Every dollar donated is another step in the march toward subjugation of the disease. Give to the cancer fund.

Once Over

Elvis Presley is in the army and his managers say it is costing the U.S. $500,000 per year in income taxes to keep him there. Under democracy and its rules of fair play money makes no difference and should not. But it's interesting nevertheless. Even "Say ah" and the other induction routines must have set back Uncle Sam a tidy sum. Every time Elvis bends over on "police call" to pick up a cigarette butt it must be at the highest rate ever paid. "On the double" to Elvis runs into $10 per word. Getting instruction in rifle practice the songster may cost Uncle Sam more than the rifle range.

ELVIS IS A TOP WRIGGLER but didn't try to wriggle out of Army duty. He did no squawking. He even stood an Army haircut without resistance, which is a form of valor. The Army barber was smart. He wanted no trouble with Presley's fans and just gave a once-over lightly, carefully keeping tonsorial operations from being the usual "crime."

Presley will be in service for two years, which is a long time to be cut off from your Cadillacs. The Army had better treat him right, for he has millions of teen-age fans in his corner, ever watchful. Let there be news of an unfair stretch of potato peeling or effort beyond the call of duty in dishwashing and the Pentagon will need aerial protection.

PRESLEY'S PHYSICAL READ: "Twitch eliminated for two years. Cadillacs removed without surgery. Economic status highly healthy. Is nice kid and talented but examination of feet leads to conclusion they will stand Army life no better than any other yardbird."

One extra rough rebuke to Presley by a general could cause the bobby-soxers to declare a state of war. In the Army he is just a G.I. still needing a more erect posture and he's down on the books as No. 53310761, not to be confused with a mandolin index.

He gets $78 a month from Uncle Sam, but at least $1,000 a week income from recording companies, etc., on work already done. (This could make him Target No. 1 for army dice shooters.) There's no truth in a rumor he may be transferred to a "rocket and roll" base. It might be good. Elvis could be the first man to go into orbit with a mandolin.

HERBERT FIELDS, top musical play author who died last week, was a "natural" in show biz and why not? He was the son of the late Lew Fields, famed for years in the Weber and Fields revues, and one of the greatest showmen in the field.

Moscow tells Washington it is amazed that the U.S. should see the "possibility of a summit conference being turned into a theatrical spectacle." Oh yeah!

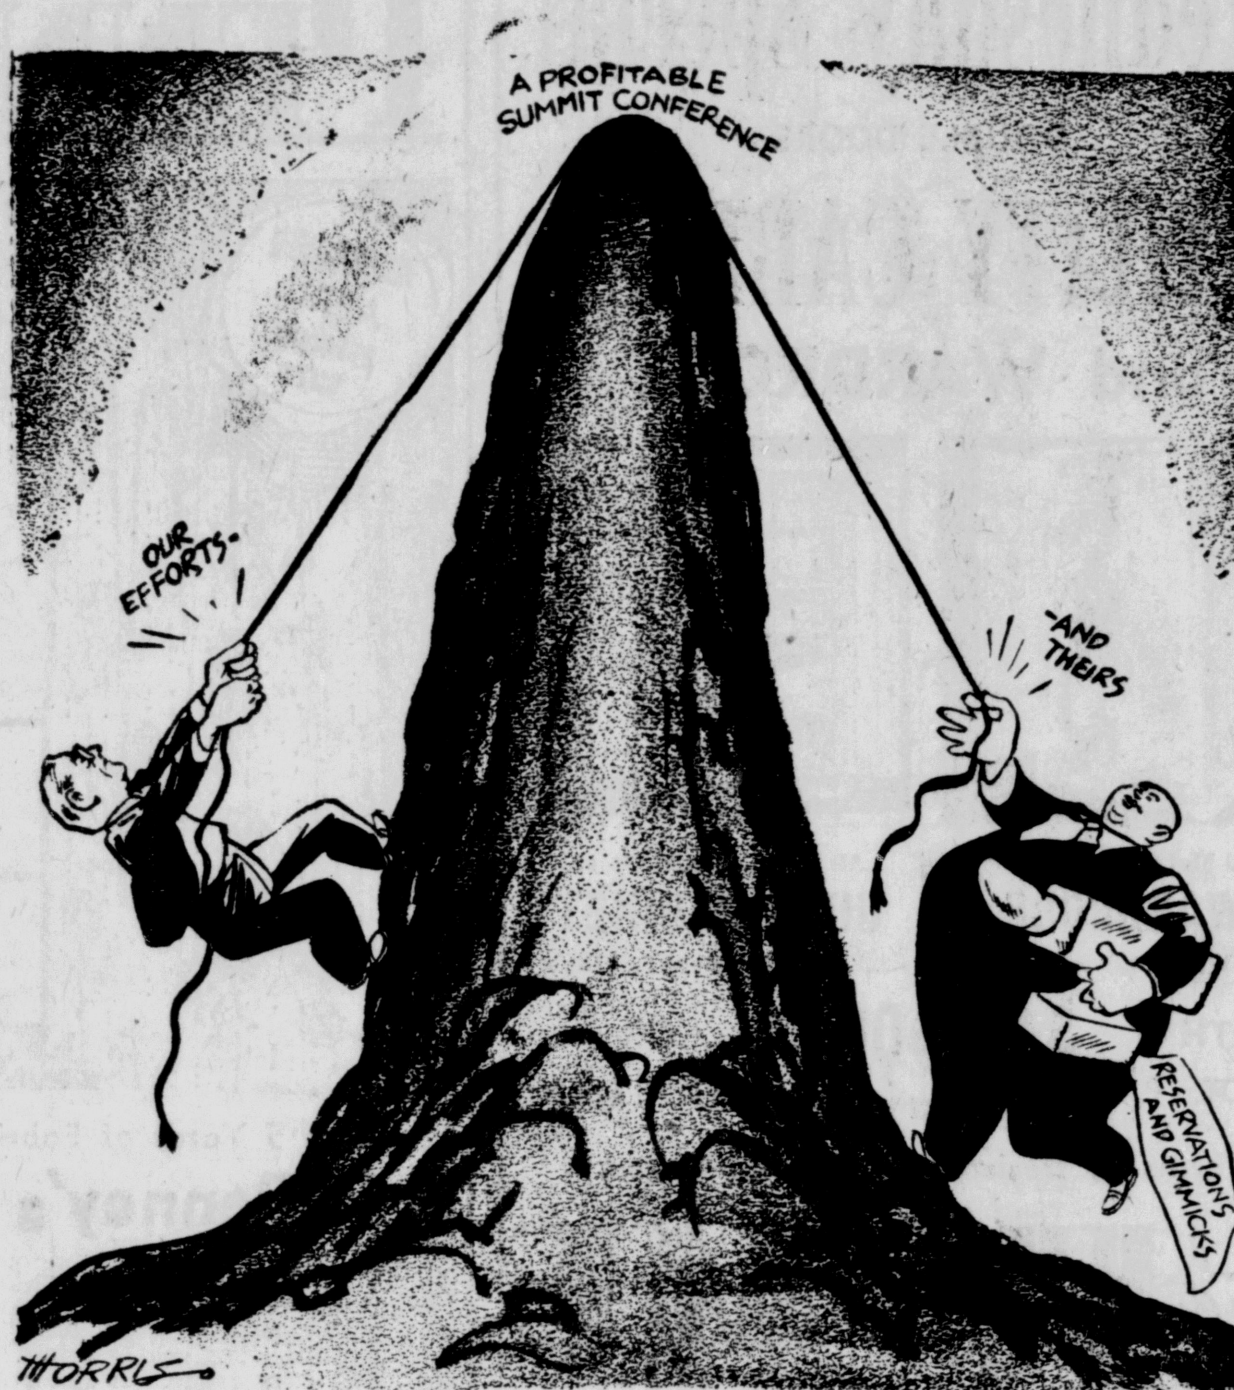

One of Mike Todd's closest friends was Bobby Clark, the comedian. Todd thought him one of the funniest men in the theater and chose him for a whole series of productions. Mike had nothing of the stuffed shirt about him and was never Mr. Big in his attitude toward others. A few years ago he wanted us to do some scripts for a musical and contacted us away up in New England by phone, asking us to come down for an immediate huddle. It was on a Sunday, and we suggested a Monday meeting. "No, it's got to be today. I'll come up and see you," he said. "Give me the directions." He hepped into his car and did so. Most producers would have reacted with a chesty and abrupt, "Forget it." In our book Mike was "Mister Atomic Energy."

McClellan committee hits Bar Association on knuckles in observation, "Lawyers have played a dubious role in relationships with labor officials under serious charges." It hopes for Bar Association attention. (Wanna bet?)

Climbing Together Is the Only Way Up

The Soviet Sensations

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — These next few months are a good time for Nikita Khrushchev—the new one-man boss of the Soviet Union—to produce sensations which might range from space flights to startling maneuvers in world affairs.

The first sensation has already occurred. The Soviet Union, announced yesterday — when there was worldwide agitation for such a move—that it would voluntarily ban nuclear weapons tests.

This could have been done last week—there were rumors it was coming — before Khrushchev had been made premier in place of Nikolai Bulganin. The latter had been only a front man for Khrushchev anyway.

That the announcement was delayed until Khrushchev became full boss, in name as well as in fact, would indicate he attached importance to the timing; after he became premier.

Time means a lot to Khrushchev because it's running out on him; he's 64. He has taken on himself, singlehandedly, the future of Soviet communism and the progress of communism everywhere.

Any blame for things gone wrong hereafter will be his alone. Now sensational Soviet scientific achievements would solidify his position at home—giving him the kind of Soviet devotion and spirit he needs for internal success—and enormously increase his prestige and influence abroad.

Bold diplomatic strokes—particularly in the direction of peace—not only would give communism a terrific and persuasive propaganda value but perhaps throw him into the position of world leadership among men, if not among nations.

At this moment for various reasons the United States, which has leadership of the Western world, at least, is rocking along stodgily and unimaginatively, nursing the status quo, taking one propaganda beating after another from the U.S.S.R.

Stalin, last Soviet one-man boss, had far more time than Khrushchev to rivet down his leadership indisputably. He was 45 when he took over at Lenin's death in 1924.

It took him at least a decade before he had to depend on achievement that — through one-by-one elimination of his rivals and finally through mass purges — gave him the absolute control he wanted to shape the Soviet future.

But Khrushchev several years ago—by his public repudiation of Stalin's bloody tactics—put himself in the position of a man who will have to depend on achievement rather than on bloody violence for success.

So far, he's followed that line. He's eliminated his rivals simply by shoving them into back seats. If things got tough for him, or if those rivals whom he thrust into the shadows tried to gang up on him, he might feel it necessary to out-Stalin Stalin. There's no reason yet to think he'll try that.

Since therefore, it would seem, he will have to depend on achievement and time is running out on him at his age, it's likely he will try a bold and imaginative road. He's shown plenty of boldness and imagination already.

Housewives Hold Key

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

The American housewife who holds the family pursestrings, say the economists, can stop the current recession in its tracks — by keeping her nerve, her temper and her head in a difficult period.

Many factors combine today to affect adversely the nation's complicated economy: production cuts, rising food costs, housing costs, expansion slowdowns, unemployment.

"But if you add to that an arbitrary personal refusal to spend money, this can send the economy in to a tailspin," says economist Leo Cherne of the Research Institute. "The very worst thing that could happen now is for the American family to be panicked into saving beyond its normal saving."

STATISTICS INDICATE, at least to the economists, that housewives and breadwinners so far have been maintaining normal habits in that huge area called "consumer spending." Sharp drops have been noted, however, in some special fields, notably automobile purchases.

And although the diagnosticians differ among themselves on the recession's cause, and differ even more in their opinions on the cure, they are generally agreed that money hoarding — the wide development of a fear of buying — can be disastrous.

"The primary thing about the current slump is not to get pessimistic, to keep one's confidence up," says an economist who is also a housewife. She is Jo Bingham, executive of the Government Finance Department of the National Assn. of Manufacturers and in private life the wife of a Connecticut businessman.

"PSYCHOLOGY is one of the largest factors in a boom or in a depression," she says, adding this word of caution: "But I think that any housewife will feel as I feel—that being pressed into buying just more" pitch just leads to "buy more inflation."

"Every buyer should shop for the best purchase," she continues, "and every woman should try to get the most for her money. It isn't necessary to go on a buying spree to ward off the worst. Just don't get scared and stop normal

Soviet's Big Hoax

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Reds Spreading Propaganda on Nuclear Fallout

The biggest hoax of our times is the Soviet-inspired drive to stop the testing of nuclear weapons. Many well-meaning, loyal citizens have been misled by the propaganda and many people throughout the world have been scared about the supposed ill-effects of fallout from the tests.

A authoritative evidence has been produced again and again by reputable scientists that fallout from nuclear weapons tests has not added any real danger. But somehow this evidence is constantly ignored and the Soviet propaganda campaign moves on because the truth is not conspicuously displayed.

Over the weekend came a joint statement from 160 scientists gathered at Lausanne, Switzerland, where, under the auspices of the Swiss Academy of Medicine, a three-day symposium was held "to determine all the long-range consequences of radioactivity." There were representatives present from the United States, France, Italy, West Germany, The Netherlands, Belgium, Norway and Switzerland. An invitation to attend was declined by Soviet scientists.

This is what the imposing group of scientists assembled in Switzerland had to say in their formal communiqué.

"Thanks mainly to the extensive and painstaking research conducted in the Anglo-Saxon countries, it appears well established that the increase in atmospheric radioactivity and in radioactive fall-out does not play any essential part and does not have any practical importance when compared to natural radiation."

"The values which have been recorded do not, in any case, constitute a danger to the health of mankind."

NOTHING COULD be more explicit and reassuring. Yet this very point has been made again and again, as, for instance, by the National Academy of Sciences in America. But within a short time after such pronouncements are issued, there are always a few scientists who come out with rebuttals or with arguments that the layman cannot understand but which keep the scare going. Nothing pleases Moscow more.

It may or may not be significant that some of the persons in the scientific field here and abroad who hold ideological attitudes similar to the Communists are among the most ardent of the advocates of the theory that nuclear weapons tests are highly dangerous. One of the scientists in the forefront of the agitation is a man who has refused security clearance by our government in certain research work. He may have been unjustly accused and it may, of course, be sheer coincidence that he is arguing so vehemently against the determination made by the Atomic Energy Commission to continue testing.

The agitation is not confined to this country. West Germany is in the midst of demonstrations fomented by Communist sympathizers who want no atomic weapons supplied to NATO forces there.

MOST SENSATIONAL now, who ever, is the Soviet government's announcement that it will stop testing nuclear weapons on its own and will not ask for any international agreement before doing so. This is already hailed in some quarters in America as a smart propaganda move. But are we so glibly as to applaud a policy which can be changed at will in three or six months but which for the time being would, if concurred in here, stop some important American tests just as they are about to be made?

In this connection, it is interesting to note that Dr. Willard F. Libby, famed scientist who is a member of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, said in a speech at the Swiss meeting last week that a bomb had been fired underground in recent tests in Nevada and that "essentially no radioactivity, even that belonging to such a volatile material as radioactive krypton, escaped to any considerable degree."

Dr. Libby says this means "it is possible at least in certain types of weapons tests to contain and eliminate radioactive fallout."

HE POINTS OUT, too, that "persons living at high altitudes on granitic rocks always have received extra radiation many times greater than is contained in the radioactive fallout from the testing of nuclear weapons and even those living on certain sedimentary rocks at sea level always have received about 10 to 20 times the present fallout dose."

Despite the existence of biological hazards of one kind or another constantly affecting a small percentage of the world's population due to medical X-rays, the sun's rays and other natural causes, life has to go on.

Exploratory tests are needed to advance peaceful as well as military uses of atomic energy. Testing is important, moreover, because deterrent weapons have to be developed by the United States so as to keep some one-man government from suddenly plunging the world into a war that could wipe out millions of lives.

If Soviet Russia could prevent the use of nuclear bombs, its conventional forces are big enough today to conquer western Europe. So the Soviet game is to get the West to give up nuclear weapons while the Communist armies of Russia and Red China dominate Europe and Asia.

Birth of the Blues

By TRUMAN TWILL

When W. C. Handy, father of the blues, died at the age of 84, all of us who remembered when his kind of music was new felt like singing the blues, too.

This was not entirely because of our age, either.

We have spanned an era in music and ran out of steam; that is our big trouble. When Mr. Handy's hot licks on the cornet finally reached our ears, we were at an age when this novel music could make fad-dists out of us.

The truth is, we stood agape, we twitched and swooned and we made musical monkeys of ourselves. The sociologists and others who generalize about such things dubbed us the "children of the jazz age."

Now we are at an age when novel music merely jars our finer, cultivated sensibilities. We are as hostile to the cacophony of the rockers 'n' rollers as the balladists were to "Memphis Blues" and "St. Louis Blues" when Mr. Handy blew them into their musical orbits.

The obvious reason for this—the reason we cannot understand the "children of the new jazz age"—is the crystallization of our musical taste. Our musical arteries have hardened. We have no capacity for taking aboard a new set of sounds.

The thought that Elvis Presley and his kind may be enshrined some day as contributors to the world's musical culture makes us swallow hard and wish for a glass of cold water with a little something in it.

Surely, these upstarts are not to be taken seriously.

Well, Mr. Handy and the pioneers of the new music with a beat were not worth taking seriously, either, until they had built up such a tremendous following they could not be ignored.

It does not require an electronic brain to figure out that their following never came close to being as tremendous as the childlike followers of the Pied Pipers of the newer kind of music with a beat.

So we old-timers must make the hardest of all choices—to stand pat or keep moving—to continue our devotion to "St. Louis Blues" or stride forward into the new, bright era of "Wake Up Little Susie."

FCC Chairman Says He Knows Little About NBC Favors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman John C. Doerfer of the Federal Communications Commission says he knew very little about favors, ranging from TV sets to entertainment in Havana, accorded the FCC by the National Broadcasting Co.

Doerfer took that stand after House investigators produced a list of favors by the big radio and TV network to members and employees of the FCC, which regulates the broadcasting industry.

The list, supplied to the special House subcommittee by NBC Vice President Thomas E. Ervin, included such items as at least 50 social functions between 1949 and 1957.

The list also cited transistor radios for commissioners, three TV sets—one of them for color television—for Doerfer, 52 Christmas presents for FCC people in 1956, prizes for the FCC girls' bowling league and $42 for "entertainment in Havana." There was no elaboration of the Havana item.

The list was read into the record by Robert W. Lishman, the subcommittee's chief counsel, when Doerfer returned to the witness stand to give some details of his travel expenses.

Doerfer said he knew very little about what NBC had done for his agency. He said he didn't know, for example, about prizes ranging from $18.25 to $32.50 for the girls' bowling league.

"I was aware," the FCC chairman said, "that some of the commissioners received Christmas presents."

Doerfer was chided by Chairman Harris (D-Ark) for having made 35 or 40 trips during his five years on the commission.

Harris said the travel by Doerfer and some other commissioners "seems to me to have been a little excessive" and that some such trips have "too much the aspect of a vacation."

Doerfer said his trips include such things as one-day inspections of military projects, and he said commissioners turn down three invitations for every one they accept.

The subcommittee called a recess until Wednesday in its public hearings.

Moscow radio disputed the American claim that the Soviets might cheat on their ban with secret explosions.

"Nuclear explosions cannot be hidden now," it asserted. "Not a single one has been hidden so far."

The broadcast accused the State Department of "trying to make the latest Soviet decision look like a clever propaganda move. Well, they can call it what they choose, but that won't change the idea behind the Soviet decision."

Official circles in France—which he believed nearing a test of her first atomic weapon—expressed belief the Soviet decision might indicate willingness to negotiate a disarmament agreement.

In Japan, the nation where nuclear weapons tests have aroused the most public opposition, the Kremlin announcement was welcomed by Foreign Minister Aichi Fujiyama. He said he hoped it would lead to an international ban agreement.

April Foolery Is Old but Still Popular Custom In Many Lands

Nobody knows for sure just when the custom of setting aside a day for foolishness originated. But it's old. People in ancient India used to play tricks on each other during the feast of Huli, which falls on March 31.

The French (1) can be blamed for our modern April Fool's Day observance. Back in 1564, Charles IX adopted the reformed calendar making the year begin on Jan. 1 instead of April 1. It had been the custom to exchange gifts on New Year's Day, so wags took to sending their neighbors mock gifts—like a ball of cotton dipped in chocolate to make it look like candy. The victim was tagged a poison d'avril, or April fish.

A romantic legend has it that April Fool's Day saved the lives of the Duke of Lorraine and his wife. Imprisoned in Nantes (2), they escaped in peasant garb. At the gate a woman recognized them and called to the guard. Knowing it was April 1, the guard merely laughed.

In England and Scotland (3) the custom caught on in the 18th Century. In Scotland, April Fools are called gowks, or cuckoos. Some kind of fool's errand was the favorite trick. But no matter who started it all, April Fool's Day jokes (4) appear likely to continue with us for many generations. And most of us will probably fall for the old gag's again this year.

25 Children Get Wild Ride in School Bus

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-five frightened children jumped from a moving school bus during a wild ride through the steep, winding hills of this southern Ohio area Monday.

The bus driver, James V. McConnell, 55, of Rt. 2, Chesapeake, was given a six months jail term and fined $50 and costs after he pleaded guilty in nearby Cressapeake mayor's court to driving while intoxicated.

The Ohio Highway Patrol halted the bus on Greasy Ridge Road. Patrolmen said when they stopped the vehicle they found McConnell seated in the bus. An unidentified man, whom McConnell apparently had picked up along the way, was at the wheel when the bus was halted. He was not held.

The bus was empty of children when the patrol caught up with it. They had jumped out of emergency exits and windows when the bus slowed down on hills and curves, the patrol said. None was injured.

GOP Group Ponders Public Works Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) called the Republican Policy Committee together today to assess the "fine print" in an antirecession bill Democratic leaders hoped the Senate would pass before midnight.

The measure would make a billion dollars in loans available for municipal public works.

The bill is the last of a series of antirecession measures on pushing for Senate action before an Easter recess. It won 13-2 approval of the Senate Banking Committee, with only Senators Bricker (Ohio) and Bennett (R-Utah) opposed.

Sen. Payne (R-Maine) claimed credit for a series of amendments under which the two-billion-dollar authorization first proposed by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) was cut in half and the maximum interest rate on the proposed loans raised to 3½ per cent.

Fulbright prepared an amendment under which the maximum rate would be lowered to the 3 per cent he originally proposed. The interest rate under the present 100million dollar program, on which President Eisenhower has ordered a speedup in expenditures, ranges from 4½ to 4½ per cent.

Fulbright has contended that these rates are so high that only cities with poor credit ratings apply for loans.

Projects would include construction and repair of streets, sidewalks, bridges, parking lots, airports, parks, hospitals, health centers, garbage disposal plants, schools, libraries, sewage facilities and police and fire buildings.

Jesus of Nazareth

A New Interpretation of the Life of Our Savior

By Norman Vincent Peale

SYNOPSIS

This is the story of Jesus as it might have been written by a youth of 18 who lived in Palestine at the time. Narrator is Joshua, nephew of the disciple Peter. Yesterday Joshua told how he learned what occurred at the Last Supper and how Jesus went to Gethsemane, where he was to be betrayed.

CHAPTER 8

Led by Jesus, the 11 descended the steps on the outer wall of the house. They passed through the dark and silent streets and into the wide ravine through which flows the brook Kidron. Its waters shone like a silver ribbon in the light of the high-rising moon.

Matthew told me that as the men found their way, bowed in perplexity and apprehension, Jesus said to them, "You will all fall away because of me this night. For it is written, 'I will strike the shepherd and the sheep of the flock will be scattered.' But after I am raised up, I will go before you to Galilee."

This was beyond endurance to Uncle Peter. Grieved by the sadness of the Master, he stopped short in the path. He raised his arms above his head and shouted, "Though they all fall away . . . I will never fall away."

His voice, full of emotion, rang through the night, and its echo seemed to rebound down the long defile from the walls of the unhappy city. . . . I will never fall away . . . never fall away . . .

My father says that the Master laid His hand affectionately upon Peter's shoulder, saying softly, "Truly, I say to you, this very night, before the cock crows, you will deny me three times."

He did not speak with anger or with accusation, but sadly, as one who simply states an unhappy fact.

Jesus led His disciples to a garden on the side of the Mount of Olives. During the day, men worked an oil press there, but at night, it was a quiet and deserted spot well suited for prayer and meditation.

Jesus liked to come here, and it had hallowed associations for the group. Through the olive trees, Jesus could look beyond the walls of Jerusalem and see the temple gleaming in the moonlight.

"Sit here," He said to the disciples, "while I go yonder and pray."

He beckoned to Peter and James and John to follow Him, and they moved more deeply into the grove. "My soul is very sorrowful, even to death, remain here and watch with me."

The three men were unhappy for Him and they wanted so to help, but there was little they could do. As they sat watching and waiting, they could hear Him talking to God: "My Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me . . ." He groaned aloud, so great was His inner agony and conflict. His struggle continued for a long time.

The day had been long and hard, and the disciples were tired. They were heavy-eyed, and their heads began to nod. They would close their eyes for a moment, then renew the watch. But finally, sleep overcame them.

WHEN PETER awakened, Jesus was standing over him, looking down. He shifted his gaze to the other two who lay nearby. Peter long afterward, with bitter shame, said that the Master stooped, tousled his hair as a father caresses a child and, indicating the others, said, "So, could you not watch with me one hour? . . . Behold, the hour is at hand and the Son of man is betrayed . . . Rise, let us be going."

I was spending the night of sadness at the home of friends of my father. Tired from the excitement of the Passover season, the household had retired early.

At midnight, I awoke suddenly. Someone was standing over me, gently touching my shoulder.

"Joshua," it was a voice I would know anywhere, a voice I had sorely missed.

"Benhadad!" I cried, for there he was before me. I sat up and we clasped hands. "Benhadad, I am so happy to see you. Where have you been? Why did you run away?"

HE SILENCED ME with a finger to his lips.

"No questions now," he whispered. "Dress quickly. There is urgent work for you to do."

He paused as if to listen. "Quickly," he again commanded. "You must go to Jesus and Stunned at so terrible a prospect, I dressed. My mind raced from one bewildering thought to another. "Come with me, Benhadad," I said, but he shook his head. "It would not be good for us to be seen together," he told me.

Why? I wondered. Was this a trick? Was his sudden concern for Jesus merely pretense?

As though he had read my mind, Benhadad said, "You have just cause to doubt me, Joshua. But in this, I beg you, trust me. I have been so wrong in so many things. I rebelled to destroy the world. He rebels to save it."

I NODDED, wanting to trust him.

"But there is so much I do not understand, Benhadad."

"And there is much I have to tell you," he said. "I tried as best I could to find someone who would help expose Him for a fraud. But nowhere could I find evil in Him or deception in His teaching. Just know this: At last I see. I believe." He smiled, and there was no dishonesty in his smile.

"Your hero is indeed the Son of God."

I wanted to shout out my elation, but at the moment a sound of muted voices rose from the street. Benhadad crossed to the window and I followed. Passing before us was a detachment of soldiers and torchbearers. Their flickering lights sent grotesque shadows against the walls.

In the front, rank marched a figure who looked familiar, although a hood hid his face from me. "It is they," Benhadad whispered. "Be gone before it is too late! I will see you hence!" And I slipped out into the night.

Bassey Meets Moreno For Lightweight Title

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The world featherweight championship and fierce national prize will be at stake tonight when champion Hogan (Kid) Bassey goes against Ricardo (Pajarito) Moreno for 15 rounds or less at Wrigley Field.

Bassey, the 25-year-old champion from Nigeria, West Africa, remained a 2-1 favorite. It is his first defense as king of the 126-pounders.

Promoter Cal Eaton predicted a crowd of 20,000 or more, with a gate of $200,000.

Moreno, 21-year-old knockout sensation from Mexico City, has the backing of thousands of his countrymen who have come North for the fight. He also has two unusually large fists.

The Bassey camp was calmly confident of victory.

The belligerent tone from the Moreno forces was set by Pajarito (Little Bird) himself. Told that Bassey's handlers had refused to use a Mexican-made glove, the bird exclaimed: "I don't care what kind of gloves we use, or if we use any gloves at all."

The fight will not be televised or broadcast.

Bassey goes into the scrap with 20 straight victories and an overall record of 61 fights, 50 wins (17 by kayo), 10 losses, 1 draw. He said he owes it to his supporter at home to win.

Moreno has won all of his 29 victories by knockouts and has lost only three bouts. One match was a draw.

Johnson Tops Arnold Palmer In Golf Match

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Hustling Howie Johnson had the feel of his first big golf tournament money—and he liked it.

The 32-year-old Glenwood, Ill., pro beat one of his best friends on the tour, Arnold Palmer, in an 18-hole playoff for top money of $2,000 in the Azalea Open tournament Monday. Johnson's 77, five over par, was good enough. Thus, in less than three hours, Johnson made more than he had in three months previously this year.

Going into the playoff Johnson was 44th on this year's official money list with $1,578 in earnings. Palmer, who won the $1,500 runner-up prize, brought his year's earnings to $8,600.

A year ago to the day Palmer had won the Azalea tournament with a 282 score, the same total with which he and Johnson tied for top honors Sunday. Last year Johnson shot 298, 16 shots behind Palmer, out of the money and down in a tie for 36th place.

Johnson, a rheumatic fever sufferer in childhood, is a cool customer on the links, taking his ups and downs in stride with no visible emotion.

He sold insurance for six years and said he liked it, but saved his money to finance his tour of the pro golf circuit starting in the summer of 1956.

Racing Season Is Sought To Be Delayed

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill has been asked to rescind the action of the State Racing Commission in permitting the Ohio racing season to start on Good Friday.

The request was made in a telegram to the governor Monday by John J. Gallagher, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. He said it was "a shame and a disgrace" for the commission to assign Good Friday (April 4) as the opening date for Ascot Park race track near Akron.

The former state representative asked the governor to have "this date deleted from the racing agenda" and another one substituted.

Gallagher appealed to church and civic groups to join him in asking the governor "to end this infringement on the sensibilities of all religious groups in the state." The appeal was made in a statement and later in a speech at the North Royalton town hall.

Cleveland Re-Gains Larry Doby In Trading Woodling To Tigers

By The Associated Press
Fearless Frank Lane, whose player deals are like a fisherman's lies—they get bigger as time passes, is up to the five-man size today after ending his long pursuit of Larry Doby with a swap that brought the veteran outfielder back where he started.

Doby, 33, who spent his first nine years of major league ball with Cleveland, returned to the Indians Monday night after a two-year absence. The deal with Baltimore also added pitcher Don Ferrarese to Lane's rebuilding program while sending outfielders Gene Woodling and Dick Williams and pitcher Bud Daley to the Orioles.

Since taking charge of the Indians, Lane has dealt with all but two of the American League clubs in swaps involving 19 players. Only the Kansas City Athletics and New York Yankees haven't done business with him.

The Florida camps have been busy issuing bulletins on injuries. The Boston Red Sox were struck twice. Right-hander Tom Brewer suffered a hairline finger fracture when struck on his pitching hand during batting practice. Heywood Sullivan suffered a fractured finger when struck by a foul tip in an exhibition game with Washington. Catcher Yogi Berra of the Yankees suffered an injury to his right hand from a foul tip during a game with the Los Angeles Dodgers. Berra's injury isn't too serious, but Sullivan may be out six weeks. Brewer three.

The Red Sox won their eighth straight, scoring 8-3 over the Senators. Gene Stephens, a stand-in for ailing Ted Williams, was 3-for-4, one a home run, and drove in a pair, Pete Runnels, late of the Senators, had four singles in five trips for the Red Sox.

Four unearned runs, three on a boot by outfielder Norm Sebern, gave the Dodgers a 7-3 victory over the Yankees. Randy Jackson smacked a homer for the Dodgers.

Dave Hillman became the first pitcher to go nine innings for the Chicago Cubs and breezed with a three-hitter for a 1-0 victory over Baltimore.

May Cancels Tam O'Shanter Golf Tourney

CHICAGO (AP) — George S. May, who has distributed nearly two million dollars in golf purses in the past 17 years, has canceled the Tam O'Shanter World Tourneys—richest in the game's history.

Mays action, announced Monday night in a letter to the Professional Golfers Assn., wiped out the 1958 prize list worth 7210,000. Other tournaments held in conjunction with the World were also canceled.

May said financial disagreement with the PGA, particularly over the organization's demand for entry fees, was the reason.

Tebbetts Compares Dodgers, Braves

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbetts says he doubts if the world champion Milwaukee Braves are as good as the great Brooklyn Dodgers teams of the 1950s.

The Cincinnati Redleg pilot said Monday, Brooklyn's great teams were beautifully balanced with speed and defensive ability to link power and pitching.

"Now people are calling the Braves great, but they're not in that class. . . . Hank Aaron can run like a deer, Eddie Mathews is fast but doesn't use his speed. None of the others can run at all. Milwaukee has to depend on power and pitching."

Tomorrow Is The Day

D. W. Erickson, founder of the Erickson Hair and Scalp Specialists, whose representatives are now returning to your state for the fifth year.

Scalp Specialist Here Again; Will Show How To Save Hair and Prevent Baldness

CHICAGO — Now is the time to carry out that long delayed resolution to "Do something about your hair." (Do not be one of the millions who are bald because they did nothing.)

Tomorrow, Wednesday only, April 2, in Salem, Ohio, at the Lape Hotel, Staff Director C. L. Clark, representing the famous Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists, will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1:00 P.M. to 8:30 P.M.

THE Road to Baldness is well marked by such danger signals as dandruff, itchy scalp, dryness or oiliness & falling hair. Disregard these warnings — continue to neglect your hair and scalp — and you'll surely become bald. This means that baldness is basically a matter of choice. You can choose to become bald by neglecting your hair and scalp, or you can overcome the local scalp condition causing hair loss thus preventing baldness by seeing Mr. Clark tomorrow.

How to Combat Baldness

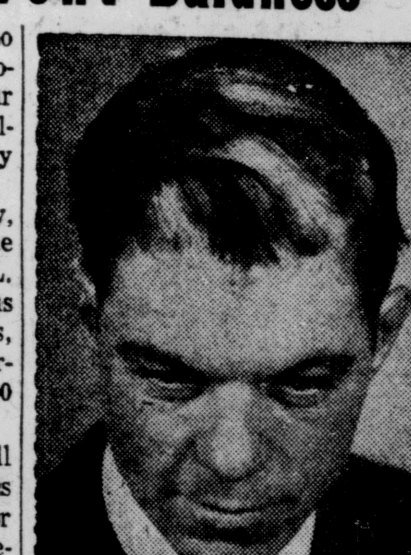

You can do as thousands have done—Let the Erickson Hair and Scalp Specialists help you, too. His "Know-How" is based on years of experience with thousands of home scalp treatments. He returns at regular intervals personally to check progress and advise you.

First, Mr. Clark determines exactly which local trouble is causing your hair loss. He recommends the length of treatment, tells you what results you may expect and the cost which frequently is less than charged by imitators. Because Erickson treatment is highly specialized—not a hit or miss—Something happens soon. You'll see results quickly.

If your scalp is still creating hair — even fuzz — you can at least save and thicken what you have.

97% Satisfied

Simply because you will not be accepted unless your scalp will respond and no one is accepted for Erickson Treatment without first having a complete free scalp examination.

Thomas A. Melton Before Erickson treatment (above) and after treatment (below).

Erickson Guarantees Satisfaction

When you are accepted for home scalp treatment you are given a written guarantee. You must be satisfied with results in 30 days or money will be refunded.

Free Scalp Examination
There is no charge or obligation for your examination. Here is all you do. Drop by the Lape Hotel, Wednesday, April 2, between 1:00 and 8:30 p.m. Ask for Mr. C. L. Clark's room number. He does not make appointments. Come at your convenience. Examinations are given in private — you will not be obligated or embarrassed. FOR COOLER HEADS—Cincinnati Redleg Manager Birdie Tebbetts has some fun with National League President Warren Giles and his four umpiring captains. Tebbetts shows off the new cap with the aluminum sweat band that gives a cooling effect. From left to right: Jocko Conlan, Dusty Boggess, Tebbetts, Frank Dascoli and Al Barlick.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

The man was petty — but not the cash he fingered out of the Teamsters' till. Certainly among the items the brotherhood's dues paid for were Dave Beck's underwear. But the Senate Rackets committee dug sufficiently into that strange man's accounts to discover that he had also lifted $370,000 from the fraternity.

That took real digging. The committee's interim report reveals that it took Carmine S. Bellino, the probers' accounting consultant, only a half hour to tell Beck's story on the stand. But to prepare himself for that half hour of testimony, Mr. Bellino spent some seven weeks at work, examining hundreds of thousands of cancelled checks, thousands of pages of ledger sheets and bank statements and tracing down thousands of financial transactions.

This led to the 'proof' that Dave Beck ... had taken, rather than borrowed, $370 of the funds of that union." I do not envy Mr. Bellino his adventures among Beck's double entries, for I am one who made a peace pact with my old college instructors. I promised to quit the accounting field if they threw me my degree.

SO IT'S WITH considerable awe that I also report that another committee investigator probing another union, went through 600,000 cancelled checks. This sounds exceedingly painstaking to me. And I am surprised to hear honorable men now charging the committee with unleashing figures for which it cannot account.

The criticism is leveled at the Senate statement that some 10 million dollars has been taken or misused inside the five unions investigated by Sen. John McClellan and his colleagues, their counsel, Bob Kennedy and his staff, which sometimes had 45 specialists from the government's General Accounting Office, in addition to its regular complement of 34 investigators.

Fact is that the total for which these bespectacled sleuths can account is 13 million dollars. The committee, in the spirit of the times, knicked the figure down to round off the sum — and some tempers, too.

POINTED WORDS—Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, listens with hands on hips to some pointed words from Chairman John McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Rackets Committee before resuming his testimony at Washington. The Senate probers, in an unusual Saturday session, heard more from Reuther on the union's views in the long violence-marked strike against the Kohler Company, Kohler, Wis.

A big chunk of what needs to be accounted for the committee attributes to James R. Hoffa, successor to Dave Beck. That amount reaches $2,400,000, say the racket-busters.

THE COMMITTEE report says: "In addition to his business enterprise, the committee finds that James R. Hoffa, grossly misused some $2,400,000 in funds of Local 299, Joint Council 43 (Detroit), the Michigan Conference of Teamsters and the Central Conference of Teamsters. This vast amount of money was dispensed in a wide variety of matters but the expenses have a common denominator — financial assistance to himself, cronies and friends."

As the committee dug through other unions it found similar "misuse" of almost two million dollars in the Philadelphia local of the Operating Engineers; some $800,000 by Frank Brewster in the Teamsters Western Conference and almost $200,000 in the old AFL United Textile Workers — just to list a few sums on a sliding scale.

The committee can account for the other amounts — for never has the nation gotten so much mileage out of an investigation. And I do mean mileage. During 1957, the staff traveled a total of 650,000 miles.

THEY INTERVIEWED some 16,000 persons in 44 states. This made it a ratio of 35 witnesses for everyone who actually took the stand. Bob Kennedy issued 2,740 subpoenas for individuals, bank records, union records and other vital information. Semi-permanent staff headquarters were opened in 11 big cities.

The committee ran 104 days of public hearings. During these hours it heard 486 witnesses. Their testimony is spread across 17,485 pages of original transcript.

It is a measure of the moment that of the 100,000 letters received by the committee, 75,000 were complaints from union members. Each of these was carefully analyzed.

In none of these figures are included the heartaches of those pushed around or the total cost of blasted walls, broken trucks, spoil-

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Hepatitis Virus Infects Liver

Interest in the disease variously known as viral hepatitis, infectious hepatitis, or epidemic hepatitis continues unabated.

This is a disease, the principal characteristic of which is the invasion of the body with a virus attacking the liver.

Two kinds are known: serum hepatitis, which is acquired by inoculation of contaminated blood or its products containing what is called hepatitis virus B; and infectious hepatitis, probably acquired by direct contact and caused by what is called hepatitis A.

THE SYMPTOMS and signs of these two vital diseases are alike to a considerable degree. Which is responsible may be determined by blood testing.

The onset of infectious hepatitis may be gradual with loss of appetite often the only first symptom. Diagnosis is frequently difficult.

It is during the early phase, or incubation period, of the disease that it is most contagious to others. Consequently, contacts should usually receive injections of a substance known as immune serum globulin which may prevent the disorder.

In the usual simple case of infectious hepatitis, with or without jaundice, diet and rest are the most important features of treatment. The patient must take plenty of liquids. Alcohol in any form is taboo.

The outlook for recovery from infectious hepatitis is generally good. Recovery, however, frequently takes a long time and occasionally there are those who develop serious signs of insufficiency of the liver, or in whom the disease runs a particularly long course.

In either case special care and treatment are in order.

NEVERTHELESS, the average victim of the disease requires little special treatment, but must recognize that it is long lasting and that return to activity should be gradual.

It seems likely that infectious hepatitis is not a new disease, although the name is of comparatively recent origin. Probably in the past it was often called catarrhal jaundice, and doubtless many patients who suffered from it recovered completely without a diagnosis ever having been made.

There are many points of interest in connection with this disease and, of course, we do not know all we want to know about it.

Sometimes the question arises as to whether a person can develop infectious hepatitis from a dog who has a disease called by the same name. Dog infectious hepatitis is caused by a different virus which is apparently not dangerous to human beings. Consequently there is no danger on this score.

TRUCK HITS, KILLS BOY

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Four-year-old Richard Lee Sausman was killed Monday night when hit by a truck driven by his father in the driveway at his home in nearby Lagrange. The father, Harry Sausman, told sheriff's deputies he was backing his panel truck out of the driveway and did not see the boy.

Columbiana, Negley Pupils Inoculated

LISBON — Columbiana County Health Commissioner Dr. C. S. Palmer and county nurses administered make-up third round polio shots Monday at health offices to 34 Columbiana exempted village school children and 15 Negley school children who missed out on the original inoculations. This makes a total of 1,731 polio third round shots given to the county school children by the county health department, Dr. Palmer said.

The vaccine was purchased by the schools and was administered by the county health department at request of school boards.
